

MIT OUTING CLUB

Whale watching, the Circus, Black Dyke, Old Man, Smith, the Gunks, Cross Country skiing, Mt. Washington, Monroe, Crawford Notch, Sugarloaf, the Chapel, biking, hiking, tobogganning, the Tetons, the Dead River, spelunking, snow shoeing, Winter School, flat and white water canoeing, Boulder, Cape Cod, Acadia, West Virginia, Appalachian Trail.....

MIT is a great place---it has research, academics, Wellesley, Boston, sports, activities---but one also has to get away from it all. A change of pace. We (all 250 of us) have found that MITOC is just that-

Escape from physics, calculus, your roommate, your roommate's girlfriend, your mother's calls, your Tute bill, your coach, the Boston weather.

Whether you are a hard core or an enthusiastic beginner, MITOC has something to offer you. We have beginning and experienced trips, give instruction, and rent equipment (from tents to bags to canoes to snowshoes to carbide lamps to pots to..). We also look for competent leaders, and if you have an idea for a trip, speak up.

Please stop by the Outing Club, our office hours are Monday and Thursdays at 5:00, or see us at the Activities Midway. We will be having a number of September trips (when the workload is light), so check our bulliten board, which is right next to the medical center. Call or write if you are in the area this summer and we can see what we can get together.
